

I Haven't Found It Yet My Niche

The water, the light, the reflections have been part of finding it...

Reality turning to abstract

but there is so much more.

There's what goes on inside my head

the random inspiration

There's always a new challenge a new way of doing a new way of seeing

I am still exploring between reality, abstract and the random

One of my greatest inspirations is Margaret Olley, she had a saying "Paintings are never finished, they are just abandoned."

My sentiments exactly!

Jennifer Taranto – Artist Statement